LOCAL.

THE Northwest Assembly is called to meet on December 7th.

A. PRINCE went to Wetaskawin on Tuesday's train. He will return to-night.

HIS Lordship the Bishop of Saskatchewan and Calgary will arrive on to-night's train.

J. NIBLOCK, divisional superintendent on the C. P. R., came in on Monday's train and went out on Tuesday.

Two millwrights named Johnstone have arrived to fit the machinery in the new roller mill in South Edmonton.

MISS L. J. ARMSTRONG, sister of Mrs. Chas. Carson, arrived on Monday's train, to spend the winter with Mrs. Carson.

MISS COOK, neice of Thos. Anderson, Dominion land agent, arrived from Michigan on Thursday's train of last week, on a visit.

SNOW began falling on Tuesday morning and continued until Wednesday evening, with considerable wind. There is now ample snow for good sleighing.

J. BROWN, L. Kelly, W. S. Robertson, and several others returned yesterday from a deer hunt at the Horse Hill. They saw one deer, but did not get him.

A NEW organ for All Saints' Church, Edmonton, arrived on Monday's train. It has a double key board and pedal attachments. The price is $400. It is of the Doherty make.

THE party of Dakota land prospectors, who arrived on Monday, say they had two blizzards in Dakota in November, before they left, and another was raging at the time of their leaving.

MONDAY'S train got in at 12:15 on Tuesday morning. The delay was caused by overloading the train, with a view to catching up with the rush of freight already considerably delayed.

A MAN named Jansen, a friend of the family of P. O. Skaalent, who was murdered at Edmonton on November 11th, arrived on Monday's train to identify the body and take it away for burial. He will leave with the body on Friday's train. Rev. C. Cunningham will conduct religious service as the body is being removed from the immigrant shed to the train.

M. G. CONNOR has received from the Western and British American insurance companies, through Mr. Kirkpatrick, $3,000 in full of his insurance with those companies on furniture destroyed by fire in August last, when his establishment was burned. This payment has been made, although his books and invoices were destroyed by the fire, making it impossible for him to show the amount of stock he had on hand.

W. B. CAMERON, well-known in Edmonton, has a "pome" in the Free Press on the death, by drowning, of Stanley Simpson, at one time of the H. B. Company service at Fort Pitt, in the effort to save the life of chief factor Belanger, who was drowned at the same time near Norway House. The occasion is certainly one worthy of poetic effort, and it is only fair to Mr. Cameron to say that he has risen to the occasion.

WM. RITCHIE, of Grafton, North Dakota, arrived on Monday's train with a large party of land prospectors. The names are: M. L. McDonald, M. Leland, J. Brunelle, Grafton; Ole Dahle and wife, Knute Jarsted, E. Trahan, F. Haverson, Jas. Welsh, W. James, A. Scott, J. H. Stewart, H. Erickson, W. A. Personette, J. McMartin, Thos. Hillyer, Jas. Welbourn, D. Laberge, Antoine Chable, Robert Gordon. The party divided into three who went to Wetaskawin, Leduc and Beaver lake.

T. B. HENDERSON, tailor, is removing today by teams to Wetaskawin where he is opening up a store in a large new building which he recently erected. W. Johnstone and J. A. Petrie are making the removal.

It is proposed by the Winnipeg city council to sell the Louise bridge to the C. P. R., and build a new traffic bridge further north. City engineer Ruttan estimates the cost at $80,000.

Regina Standard: "The people of Wallace in defeating so popular a man as Mr. McNutt, have clearly expressed their disapproval of the Cayley administration, and in so doing they have but echoed the universal sentiment. As the Free Press very aptly puts it, a constituency recently represented by a member of his (Cayley's) "executive" pronounces against him by an overwhelming majority. The Cayley party had decided advantages in the campaign. They held by usurpation the reins of government, and they did not fail to make the best of that circumstance. They succeeded in inducing a man of influence to become their candidate; they played upon the esteem in which their late colleague was held; the way Cayley himself spent days and weeks in the district, assisted by that noted campaigner Mr. Davidson, and that prince of orators Mr. D. Mowat. The fact that all this proved of no avail, lends additional emphasis to the people's verdict. Mr. Cayley has been commanded to step down and out. The people's mandate cannot be misunderstood, and if he has any hope of a further political career he will not stand on the order of his going."

CURLING MEETING.

The adjourned semi-annual meeting of the Edmonton curling club was held in the sheriff's office on Monday evening last. J. A. McDougall president of the club, chairman. A proposition from the building and investment company who own the curling rink was considered. It was to the effect that the company would lease the rink to the curling club in its present condition, for $50 for the season, and would rent the stoves for $30 for the season or sell them for $100. A motion was passed refusing the proposition of the investment company, and a committee consisting of W. Patton W. McKay and J. McDonald was appointed to get the views of members of the club as to what would be the best to do, with a view to a successful curling season, and report at an adjourned meeting to be held to-morrow, Friday evening, in the sheriff's office, at 7:30.

GENERAL NEWS.

Rev. Jas. Buchanan, Presbyterian minister at Innisfail, Alberta, has notified the interior department that arrangements have been made to bring out to Canada about fifty families of French speaking Vauds from the higher Alps country. These emigrants will probably be settled on the fertile uplands of the foothills of the Rocky mountains. They are an agricultural people, especially skilled in dairying and mixed farming, and are reputed to be of thrifty and progressive habits.

The small-pox situation is still serious at several points on Puget Sound. The commissioners of Snohomish county have appealed to the secretary of the state board of health to suppress the epidemic in the Great Northern railway camps and prevent the wholesale discharge of men in a few days to spread the disease all over the state. There are now about twenty cases in Seattle and several in Tacoma, Ellensburg, San Juan Island, Snohomish, Lowell, Sultan and Index.

The inquest on the death of Emile Boey, on the trail from the Kneehill coal mines to Calgary, showed that the man had eaten nothing for two days before his death. His companions on the trip in to Calgary had driven on and left him. He was suffering from an ulcer on the kidney. The Calgary Herald comments severely on the treatment accorded the men working in the mines by the proprietor, Dr. Lovingheart. In the opinion of the Herald the Dr.'s character is not true to his name.

Six representatives of families arrived here on Tuesday morning, says the Calgary Tribune, being N. D. Sjolander, Lewis Erickson, Chas. Hagston, of Moscow, Idaho, and C. Nelson, Wm. Hill and Wm. Eggleston, of Genesee, Idaho. They have with them their horses and household effects, and will be joined by the families as soon as preparations for their reception have been completed. The first named parties left this morning by train for Lacombe, where they will locate. The second party will go to Wetaskawin.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOVEMBER 24, 1902.

THE WALLACE ELECTION.

The result of the election in Wallace is fully satisfactory to all friends of honest government and honest politics in the Territories. It does credit to the intelligence and sense of right of the electors of that constituency, but was only what was to be expected under the circumstances. The verdict of the electors of Wallace was what that of the electors of the Territories would have been had a general election given them the opportunity of pronouncing on the merits of the case. And the case was of greater and wider importance than is generally understood.

First, there was a personal question. Should a man who had been successful to the highest degree in the conduct of public affairs, against whose honor, personal or political, nothing was or could be said, be turned out of power simply because he would not, and could not, fawn and flatter and deceive. And on the other hand, should another man be elevated to power, who had shown himself to be capable of the blackest ingratitude and the most atrocious double dealing solely because he had a smoother tongue and a more oily manner. In these days of degenerate politics what the country needs first is honor and honesty. The man who would not swerve from the straight course to retain office is the man the country needs in office. The man who would use dishonorable methods to obtain office is the man who would be likely to use office for dishonorable ends, to the public loss. The opinion of the people of Wallace as expressed on election day is not to be misander-on this point.

Second, there was the question of district representation—the question upon which the Haultain executive was ostensibly defeated—the question whether the Territories must be governed in sections or parcels or factions, or as a whole. The importance of this question can scarcely be overrated. To admit that sectional representation on the executive was a necessary part of our system of government was to admit that responsible government was impracticable, and that our affairs must be conducted at the wish and under the control of cliques and factions instead of in accordance with the sense of the community, and in the interest of the public at large. By electing Mr. Insinger to support Mr. Haultain and his policy the people of Wallace have not only expressed an opinion as to factional representation, but they have dealt the idea a knockout blow.

Third, there was the school question—not the question of separate schools or no separate schools, but the question of the proper and responsible control of all schools by those who provide the means for their support. Opposition to this method of school control was the price paid by Mr. Cayley for the larger part of the support which enabled him to pose for a time as premier of the Territories, and had Mr. McNutt been elected in Wallace, either irresponsible control would have carried the day or Mr. Cayley would have been defeated by his own supporters. The fact that he voted against the second reading of the bill to provide responsible control is not changed by his acceptance of the promoter of the bill as a colleague or by his professions before the electors of Wallace. If he had a school policy it was against responsible control and if Mr. McNutt had been elected to support Mr. Cayley his vote would have assured the defeat of that provision, just as the election of his opponent ensures its success.

Fourth, there was the question of the privilege of the assembly against the prerogative of the lieutenant governor. The electors of Wallace declare by an unmistakable majority that the thirteen members of the assembly who asserted that its rights had been infringed by the lieutenant governor's ill timed prorogation were right and that His Honor was wrong, and they have sent Mr. Insinger to the assembly to say so for them. It would indeed have been unfortunate if by Mr. McNutt's election this arbitrary and unjust action had remained unresented. It would have practically offered a prize for like partizan jugglery in the future.

Battleford Herald: A man, named Marshall, came from Prince Albert last summer, and worked at his trade as a painter, and in that he made himself a high reputation as an expert. His next role was when he became nurse to one of the sick of the Foresters. Him he carefully tended until convalescence was reported and Marshall started for Edmonton. It having become known that he left on foot without bedding or provision, Inspector Howe, fearing evil might befall him, sent a party of mounted police to look him up. They found him at a house thirty miles west, and he accompanied them back to town.

At a meeting of prominent citizens and business men of San Antonio, Texas, it was decided to raise a fund of $2,000 to be added to the $10,000 fund already secured by the government for rain making experiments.

GENERAL NEWS.

Mr. Cayley told the Regina Leader on his return from Wallace: "Regarding election cries it was said that our side favored separate schools, and it kept us busy most of the time explaining that we did not. A good argument used was that if Mr. Haultain's candidate was elected the deadlock would be broken. It was on these two arguments that the election was won." In answer to the question, "What will you do now?" Mr. Cayley said: "I will advise His Honor to call the house together as soon as possible, and I will resign on the day the house meets."

Calgary Herald: While it was most unfortunate that Mickelson should have come to his death by other hands than those of the duly accredited officers of justice, it is still well to feel that the sentence of a judge was only forestalled. We hold that the efforts of the Red Deer settlers to bring this murderer to justice are deserving of the highest praise, evincing, as they do, a determination to secure the enforcement of law and order in this new country. The death of Mickelson, though not intended by his pursuers, will prove a warning to all desperate characters to give Alberta a wide birth.

In a recent speech before the New York Chamber of Commerce, of New York, president elect Cleveland said: "No one appreciates more fully than I that, while a proper adjustment of all interests should be maintained, you represent those which are utterly indispensable to our national growth and prosperity. I do not believe that any other interests should be obliged to feed from the crumbs which fall from the table of business, nor do I believe that table should be robbed of the good things which are honestly and fairly there, because some other tables are not well provided. It comes to this, we are all interested as Americans, in a common pursuit. Our purpose is, or ought to be, in our several spheres, to add to the general fund of national prosperity. From this fund we are all entitled to draw, perhaps not equally, but justly, each receiving a fair portion of individual prosperity. Let us avoid trampling on each other in our anxiety to be first in the distribution of shares, and let us not attempt to appropriate the shares of others."

TOWN COUNCIL.

WEDNESDAY, November 23.

Present: Mayor McCauley, and councillors Strang, Fraser, Goodridge, Cameron and Daly. A communication from the Central Bridging & Engineering Company, asking information regarding a bridge at Edmonton was received.

The clerk was instructed to inform W. Brunelle that council had not power to grant his request as to a water tank.

The finance committee reported the following accounts:

BULLETIN printing account.....	$116 25
F. D. Fortin, stationery, etc.....	14 20
A. A. Andrews, fire department.....	5 80
E. Brousseau, bridge petition.....	20 00
J. F. Adamson, bridge petition.....	18 00
Jas. Shand, bridge petition.....	15 00

Strang and Cameron moved adoption of report.

The mayor suggested in regard to the bridge question the advisability of calling a meeting of the ratepayers at an early date to secure an expression of public opinion regarding the bridge.

Cameron suggested that as the minister of interior had very clearly intimated that it would be necessary for the town to assume a part of the cost of the bridge, it would be well for a definite offer of what the town was willing to do to accompany the petition.

After some discussion during which the idea of a public meeting on the bridge question was unanimously favored, the clerk was instructed to engage Robertson's Hall for Tuesday night next, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the ratepayers to discuss the advisability of offering a bonus to the Dominion government to assist in building a bridge across the river Saskatchewan at Edmonton.

Cameron and Goodridge moved that F. Oliver be paid for the piece of land—being a strip of frontage on lot A, river lot 10, Jasper avenue—purchased from him on September 14th.

Strang and Fraser moved that the council accept W. S. Robertson's offer for rent of building on Jasper avenue, for use as a fire hall at $50 a month for six months, he to fit up the building properly for winter use.

By-law 34 was read a third time and passed.

By-law 35 was read a third time and passed. This by-law provides that within four hours after every fall of snow or hail or rain that freezes on the sidewalk, the occupant, or if there is no occupant, the owner of any property fronting on Jasper avenue, between McDougall street and lot 34, block 2, river lot 12, or between new Imperial bank building and Robertson's Hall, must clear it off. Or if it is ice that cannot be cleared off sand, ashes or other suitable substance must be strewn on it. If the occupant or owner does not clear the sidewalk the town may do it at his expense.

By-law 36, to amend by-law 17, was read a third time and passed. This by-law provides that ashes must not be placed within 25 feet of any house or other building, or within 10 feet of any fence, or other wooden structure, unless they are placed in an excavation in the ground or fire proof receptacle.
